

ition to the LLM, and allows the user to verify the sources on which the response is generated.

sponse quality issues when relevant facts are buried within large amounts of irrelevant text, and increases length numeric vectors, one for each text chunk.

include cosine similarity, which only compares the angles of vectors, and the dot product, which compares their

Skills Network

